Timing

see Timeline

In a nutshell, production starts slowly generally 4-6 months before the event.

Around 2 months before AMRO production gets more and more intense till a month before festival, where things go in print & program is published online. At that point everything should be kind of standing, last breathing before everyone arrives and the festival happens.

Generally two/three days after the festival workloads reduces to administration and reports. In general one or two months after the festival the documentation video and pictures are uploaded on the website, marking the closing of production.
